one remedy, and thut is calomel. It is an old remedy, but the mode of exhibiting it is new. It is be given in a pure state, unmixed with opium or other medic nal ingredients. For adults' it is to be prepared with a little brown sugar, in doses of not less than thirty or forty grains, and we have both given and taken it in as much as tea spoonful doses with perfect success, in the most malignant attacks with perfect success, in the most malignant attacks of cholera. The calomel thus prepared is emptied on the tongue and washed down with a little cold water. If thrown up by the stomach another does is to be repeated immediately, and if that is rejected another is to be given. There is but one rule in its administration, and that is to continue its repetition till a does remains, when the vomiting will cease, and the calomel will by its uncontrolled action unlock the lives and bidgest product the lives are lives and lives are lives and lives are lives and lives are lives are lives are lives lock the liver and kidneys. Bile will soon reappear in the evacuations, and increased discharges of orine, when reaction commences and the life of the patient is saved. Simple adjuncts may be used, such as a temporary mustard plaster over the stomach, cold or iced mucilaginous drinks, in small quantities; and should costiveness follow, a little oil or senna and manna, or other mild purgatives, may be used. The worst result that possibly can occur is a slight plyalism, or salavation, in one ease, perhaps in hundreds, which will soon pass off with mild treatment, and without injury. In a. violent attack of Asiatic cholers, which often ter-minates in a few hours, there is no time for experiments with homeopathic nostrums, hydropathic applications, quack mixtures, or with small opiated loses of calomel. Life must be saved quickly, and that by a remedy about the certainty and early action of which there shall be no mistake.

The writer of this was, at one time, in 1834, at tacked in a most violent manner with Asiatic cholera, when he took about six or seven even teaspoons full of calomel before one remained on his stomach. Reaction then commenced, and he was next day enabled to walk out. The only external remedy used was the temporary application of a mustard plaster over his stomach. The only inconvenience he felt was a slight ptyalism, from his susceptibility to the influence of mercury. But this was nothing to dying. He then tried the same treatment in other violent cases with the most uniform and perfect success. In 1840 he experienced another attack of cholers in Liverpool, and sgain cured himself by similar treatment. He became acquainted with Dr. Jackson, who had enjoyed great experience in the treatment of the disease during a long period in the Hon. East India Company's ser-vice. He informed us that the calomel practice, in the form and manner we have described it, formed the most successful practice of any other, and that it is a leading and indispensable remedy in the treat-ment of malignant cholers, none other being thought of in India.

This mode of treatment is not only safe and efficient, but it is very simple. Any one may apply it in extreme cases, who may not otherwise understand medicine, when no physician can be had. It is peculiarly applicable to the treatment of the disease in its violent forms at the West. Calomel in large doses, in such cases, is not injurious; small doses may do more hurt, and yet fail to give relief, from the want of time to act. Dr. Cook, of Kentucky, is recorded to have given table spoonful doses with out injury.

Dr. Vanderveer, of the Franklin street cholers hospital, has pursued the calomel practice with the most decided success. His doses range in violent eases from 30 to 40 grains of simple calomel, and repeated until the vomiting is controlled. He also uses simples, such as mustard plasters temporarily, and occasionally camphor and pellets of ice, but no opium, nor anything that prevents the due action of the calomel.

A large number of patients reach the hospital in a dying state, and some expire on the steps of the building, so that the apparent mortality is greater than the reality. He considers that no disease, in its earlier stages, is more curable. From all the facts regarding its treatment we feel confident that calomel, properly administered, is a more certain specific in the curse of the disease, while it remains the various sextons:—

MORTALITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

The following were the interments in all the cemeteries of New Orleans for the week commencing July 16, at 6 o'clock A. M., and ending July 23, at 6 o'clock A. M., 1854, as by official returns from the various sextons: by our recommendation a large planter tried th restment on his estate in Cuba with the most marked success. The French Academy, we be-lieve, have offered a premium for the best cure of cholera. We submit for their consideration the new method of administrating calomel in its cure, especially when genuine and severe, as the best hat can be adopted. And nothing but ignorance or prejudice will ever exclude its adoption in the cure of violent cases of spasmodic cholera or asphysia. In using calomel, of course the purest five per cent over the mortality of the previous week. There have been 11 deaths thus far from and best should, if practicable, be obtained. care, it never deteriorates from age.

It is supposed that since the appearance of the disease, with unusual malignity, at Jessore, in 1817, to the present period, that not less than about eighteen millions of the human family have fallen victims to it-about afteen to sixteen millions of whom have died in India and other parts of Asia, and the re mainder in Europe and America.

The seeds of the disease have been undoubtedly sown in favorable localities, in Europe and along the alluvial deposits of the great rivers both there and in America, liable, by various causes, to be brought into activity, if not as virulent as the original Indian disease, or as epidemic in its character, yet, in the form of aggravated cholera morbus of the country, terminating in spasmodic cases of cholera asphyxia.

No sesson passes in India without it, and it is yet liable to travel with caravans and merchants to the North of Europe, from India, and from thence cross. via England or France, to America. But many returns of the disease must be witnessed without tracing its importation directly back to India.

MEANS OF PREVENTION.

The means of prevention may be summed up under the following heads, which are so plain, simple and appropriate that they ought to be printed in handbills, and distributed over the city by the city government. Dr. Johnson, of London, coned the means of prevention into a single paragraph, as follows:-"Temperance, cleanliness, ventilation and fearlessness; in fine, in a pur suance of all those means which tend to preserve general health, and the avoiding of all those causes which predispose to common or indigenuous diseases

1. We should avoid the too free use of all fruits.

2. The intemperate use of spirits.
3. To avoid taking cold by exposure to night air. sitting or sleeping too much exposed to currents of

4. Attention to diet, which should consist of wholesome preparations from various kinds of grain, such as wheat, rice, barley, corn, &c., with milk boiled, or taken fresh and pure, if possible. We have frequently known the free use of fresh meat produce a looseness of the bowels, though beef and mutton can no doubt be eat with perfect impunity by most persons who have been ac-customed to their use as a daily food. Smoked bacon or hams, when sweet, and well cured, is the healthiest meat for one meal in the day, at least during cholera seasons. Those who are at all liable to a looseness of the bowels should avoid the use of acids, sour fruits or vegetables, and melons of all kinds. Excess in their use, by the most healthy, is attended by danger. Frequent bathing, or washing the surface of the entire body with soap and water, on first rising in the morning. with the use of the flesh brush or coarse towels, is also conducive to the preservation of health.

5. Regularity in eating and sleeping.

6. To avoid crowded assemblies, and sleeping in badly ventilated chambers.

7. The sprinting of vinegar or the chioride of lime in cellars and chambers.

. To avoid, as far as possible, the influence of all

BY MAIL.

At Chicago, on the 27th ult., fifteen deaths from cholera were reported to the Board of Health.

We are pained to learn that the cholera, the most to be dreaded of all other diseases, is still raging in Cloverport, Ky., and vicinity; and also in the reighborhood of Long Lick, Breckenridge county, Ky. Many of the best citizens in these places have been cut down, with but a few hours warning.—

Baptist Recorder, July 26.

A most distressing instance of the ravages of the cholers in a single family occurred within the last three days in Pasayunk road above Carpenter street. The disease first attacked Albert G. Baker, the son of John George Baker, 11 years of age, and terminated fatally on Thursday. On Friday the father and another child, George W. Baker, aged 11 years, died, and the mother, Elizabeth Baker, expired at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, leaving only three survivors, Charles, aged 7. Elizabeth, aged 9, and Catharine, an infant aged only 14 months. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, and an immense crowd of men, women and children assembled in the vicinity of the desolated house, to witness the melancholy spectacle. The funeral was under the direction of L. Fayette, who had four hearses devoted to carrying the remains to the grave. The body of the youngest child was placed in Mr. Fayette's white hearse, drawn by a beautiful pair of white horses. The interment took place in the Union burial ground, and the four comins were placed in a grave along with that of a younger child, aged 5 years, who only preceded them a week. Thus, in a family of eight, that ten days since were in the enjoyment of health and happiness, only three survived last evening, and the two girls were sick, and of the survival of the infant there was but little hope. The Rev. Mr. Jermon officiated at the grave, and made a mast impressive address, suited to the solemnity of the occasion, which was not without a visible effect upon the large assembl following.—Newark Mercury, July 31.

The Providence (R. I.) Journal, of the 31st uit., says:—One case yesterday, and three cases previously reported in this city, have terminated fatally. In almost every fatal case the physicians have not been called till the patient was beyond hope.

On the 27th ult. there were twenty-three deaths from cholers at Hamilton, Canada. At Montreal, on the same day, there were sixteen deaths.

week. There have been 11 deaths thus far from yellow fever this season, as follows:—St. Vincent de Paul, 5; Lafsyette, 2; Charity Hospital, 2; Cypress grove, 1; St. Patrick's, 1. The official returns show an average of over 50 deaths a week from cholera for the three weeks ending June 18. Since that date there has been a gradual decline of the disease, 13 deaths here is equal to 100 in your city.

REMARKABLE FATALITY.—On Tuesday last a stage driver in the employ of M. O. Walker died at Warren of cholera; on the same day, another driver died of the same disease, at the station, fifteen miles cast of this city; one died at the City Hotel, and two at the Bradley House in this city. The wife of the station-keeper, Mrs. Charles Lamar, one child and two servant girls, also died of the same disease about the same time. When the Eastern stage arrived here on Tuesday aftern oon, the passengers reported that the five persons we elying at the station house, unburied. Mr. Lamar, we regret to learn, at the time was absent in Chicago, and he returns only to find his whole family destroyed.—Galena Jeffersonian.

The postmaster at High Grove, Nelson county, Ky, under date of 27th inst., informs us that on last Saturday the cholera made its appearance at that place. In no case did they survive an attack longer than eight or ten hours. It first made its appearance in a family by the name of McIntire. It still continues its ravages in the neighborhood, and much consternation prevails.—Louisville Democrat, July 28.

and much consternation prevails.—Louisville Democrat. July 28.

The Signess at the Almshouse, eight new cases having occurred during Sunday afternoon and yesterday, one of which proved fatal. We called upon Dr. Edward White, one of the visiting physicians, who left the institution about eight o'clock last night, and he informed us that up to the time he left there had been thirty cases and eleven deaths, and that at the time he left there were three patients in a state of collapse, all of whom are probably dead before this goes to press. Every possible care is taken of the patients, there being eight resident graduate students, who devote their whole time and attention to the sick. Most of them have already premonitory symptoms of cholera, and it is feared that they will be attacked. It is stated that all those who have been appointed as nurses have died of the malady. The institution is in a very cleanly and excellent condition, every cesspool and other thing calculated to assist the progress of the disease having been removed, and it is now to be hoped that the disease will abate, and the almshouse again restored to a healthy condition.—Baltimore American, August 1.

DEEP APPLICTION.—The death of William Crabbe, of cholera, was noticed in the fore part of this week as occurring at Lambertville. Since that time, his wife, child, and sister-in-law have all died from a similar complaint. Mr. Crabbe, until within a few months past, was a resident of this city, and was highly esteemed as a young man of very industrious habits, and strict moral character. His decease, and the severe affliction which has visited his family, are deeply felt by a large circle of friends and acquaintances in this city.—Trenton True American, Aug. 1.

During the forty-eight hours ending at noon yesterday, five fatal cases of cholera were reported at the City Register's office. The cholera has nearly disappeared from the State prison. There are but few persons on the sick list, and thus far there have been no deaths from the disorder in the institution. George Bennett, a mulatto, who was committed to station-house No. 1 on Sunday night, was attacked with the cholera, and the officer removed him to the Fort Hill hospital.—Boston Journal, Aug. 1.

The Diario Official, speaking of the critical situation of General Alvarez, declares that he has been informed by several persons, just arrived from the South, that he died from the effects of the disease under which he had been laboring. In fine, the Universal announces the fact as certain.

The Tvait of Union does not think it necessary to insist on the probable result of such an event. The revolution has lost its head, and already, if that journal believes its contemporaries, divisions have taken place among the rebels, who have deprived Mr. Ignacio Comonfort of the command of the fortress of Acapulco.

The Pope, yleiding to the wishes of the Mexican government, has confirmed, by a special decree, the Order of Guadalupe, instituted, or rather, re-established by Gen. Santa Anna.

The Trait D'Union publishes lengthened details of a funeral service that had been celebrated on the 13th, at the Church of la Professa, in memory of Mrs. Henrietta Sontag. He gives the following description of the ceremony:—The church was illumined by more than 600 wax caudles, the britiant effect of which was increased by the foggy at mosphere without. The body of the church was linear grief manifested by all present.

The requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Jose Maria del Barris, a young clergyman who has in a short time raised himself to a distinguished position amongst the ecclesiastics of Mexico. In the organ gallery a number of the artists belonging to the companies of the opery, and an excelient or chestra, executed the mass of Luidga Rossi; the work which was suggested by a profound sentiment of religious melancholy, was admirably rendered. The solos by Mons. Salvi and Badiali, were unrivalled. We remarked that the voice of M. Badiali has recovered its original richness and flexibility. The artist is himself again, and from the excellence of his performance of today, we may well conclude that the hour of his triumphs has not yet gone by. Messars. Bordas, Marian, Beneventano, Becco, Spechi, Bovero and several other artists of merit, were members of the choir, a fact in itself sufficient to assure our readers that the ocremony was all that could be desired.

After mass a response was sung with great pomp, and thus the ocremony terminated. At this moment candles were distributed amongst thore present by their lights we observed more than one tear triking down the cheeks of the females, whose beauty was enhanced by the melancholy expression of their features. It was near noon when this holy and solemn ceremony was all that could be desired.

The Trait D'Unnom, of the 15th inst. contains the following remarks

The treaty of peace between the two operatic companies, of which we made mention in our last issue, was signed on Wednesday last. It is certain that the Santa Arna theatre is about being re-opened. As to the formation of the joint stock company there is as yet nothing definite.

A rumor was current at Guanajuato that the Queretaro cavalry, which had been sent against the rebels of Michoacan, had been defeated by the latter. In order to show the inaccury of this rumor the Labaro Queretaro has published the official report of Don Manuel Escadero, commander of the cavalry. The report, which is dated from Morelia, on the 23d of June, informs us in effect that a small detachment had been surprised and defeated by the insurgents, who had captured Capt. Agastia Enriquez de Larati, and seizeda load of tobaccco; that a reinforcement of twenty-five foot soldiers was also attacked and defeated by the insurgents, but that in a few moments after, the main body of the cavalry having arrived on the spot, completely routed the rebels and recovered their booty.

The official journal of Michoacan, in its issues of the 18th and 22d of June, gives us further details on the position of the Department.

It announces the arrival and departure of the Queretaro cavalry, of which we have been speaking, in pursuit of the rebels. It then speaks of the "garilla" Pueblita, so called from the name of its chief. This is the same body that appeared at Tristaran, in the action which we have detailed above, against the cavalry of Queretaro. The official journal calls the attention of the city as men of the official journal of Michoa

With two hundred and fifty soldiers and lifty country people he attacked the insurgents, who were four hundred strong, and after killing several and capturing some arms, he put them to flight.

The information in regard to the Jalisco and Michoacan insurgents is also very slight. The official journal of Michoacan states that the supreme government had offered a free pardon to all who would lay down their arms and come in, and that Don Rafael Guerrera had received a full pardon.

A column of 1,000 infantry and cavalry was being prepared to act against the insurgents. General Andrade has arrived at Morelia and taken the command. He arrived without troops.

By way of San Antonio the Civilian and Gazette of the 18th has accounts from the Mexican frontier and New Mexico.

A letter from Santa Fe, written by W. W. H. Davis, says that Indian hostilities still continue. The Kiowahs, Cheyenes and Arapahoes have joined in the depredations. It is said the tribes are to have a general junta, in order to combine against the whites. The Governor had called out the militia, and four hundred are now in the field. Fears are expressed of a general Indian war. The May mail, going east, was attacked by the Indians, and all their animals stolen from them. They afterwards promised to return them, upon condition that the mail men would cook them a good dinner, which was complied with, and the animals were returned. An amusing scene it must have been, to see the red skins sitting around and the Americans cooking dinner for them. The Indians, no doubt, erjoyed it finely.

One of the brothers in-law, George Washington Wilson, aged twelve years, had been brought in by Aaron Brown, a Chickasaw, who purchased him from the Comanches. A boy had been purchased by some friendly Indians from the Comanches, and brought in Forther-in-low. The captives are now all safe, and will be speedily forwarded to their friends.

Probable Murder—A Serious Affair.—Monday morning, policeman McCabe, of the First ward, whilst on duty, went on to pier 14. North river, where he discovered Michael Coyn lying senseless. On examining him, he found that his skull had been stove in by some heavy blunt instrument. Assistance was summoned, and the unfortunate man was conveyed to the New York Hospital, where he lies with scarcely a hope of his recovery. The officer them spent considerable time in endeavoring to find out who had inflicted the injury. He eventually apprehended a man named John Cochrau, an Irishman, of a powerful frame, employed as steersman on board the Kennebec propeller, plying between this city and Philadelphia. On his being charged with having injured Coyn, he at first denied it, but finally admitted it, alleging as the cause that Coyn was beating and illtreating a shipmate of his, and in order to save him, gave Coyn a small taste of his club. The outrage, it appears, occurred about 1 o'clock in the morning, and consequently for fire hours the poor man lay on the pier bofore he was discovered. During yesterday several persons were found who, it is said, were present during the affray. They were committed to prison by Justice Bogart, in order to be ready with their evidence, as was also Cochran, to awnit the result of the terrible injury he has inflicted. Arrest of a Pichpochet at a Fameral.—On Sunday, officer Hanifen, Ninth ward, having occasion to be present in Christopher street, among the crowd assembled to witness the funeral of Mr. Ackerman, who met his death through a fall, when accidentally wrestling with his friend John Quinlan on Thursday last, he saw three young men actively busy among the crowd, sounding the pockets of the persons assembled there. Officer Hanifen succeeded in arresting one of them, who gave his name as John Williams, 18 years of age. He is a person well honw to the down town police as a pickpocket. On searching him were found a large steel beaded silk purse and $15 in measy, each in a separate pile. His ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.—On Sunday afternoon, as a daughter of Mr. Beard, of Groton, a respectable farmer, was returning home from meeting, Michael Meriden followed her for some time until she reached a piece of woods, when he struck into them and came out on the road shead of her; seized her and carried her into the woods. He used many threats to induce her to submit to his purposes, but she screamed and resisted, and at length he let her go without accomplishing his object. On her arrival home, the neighbors turned out; the rascal was tracked by his boot tracks to a house in Harvard and taken. Meriden, for three years past, has worked at the Shaker village. The girl is about thirteen years.—Boston Post, Aug. 1.

From the Council Blaffs Buile, July 16.]

On Tuesday last Col. Landre, with a few attendants, arrived in this city, direct from Puget's Sound, Washington Territory, via Oregon, Utah and the Platte Valley.

The Colonel reports the Northern or Puget's Sound road impracticable, and brings public documents showing that the northwestern Territories of Washington, Oregon and Utah are decidedly in favor of the Platte Valley route. In the former Territory the Legislature has instructed their delegate in Congress to use all proper endeavors in favor of the location of this great national road on the Platte Valley route. The Colonel spoke to a large and respectable audience, at the Pacific House, on Wednesday evening last. He stated that no better line can exist than he found between Puget's Sound and the valley of the Great Salt Lake. The Colonel is a man of iron nerve and an unshaken firmness of purpose in what he undertakes; few men in this age of the world would take upon themselves the great hardships and innumerable difficulties and dangers that so long and uncertain a journey of survey welld entail, and that, too, without prospect or hope of pecuniary reward.

The Colonel dialocated his shoulder whilst on an excursion of observation in the mountains, which became very painful, but still did not delay his movements. In this condition he rode, for a number of days, forty miles per day, until, from sickness, he was forced a few days to halt. He came on the north side of the Platte, and reports it as one of the best routes for a railroad, its whole length, that can be found on the continent.

The Colonel proceeds on to Washington in a few days, when his reports will be laid before the proper department, preparatory to the action of Congress upon this important and functershing subject. The people of Western Iowa and Nebraska should be wide awake to their interests in this grea

The Plattsburg Republican records an "ugly" case of elopement which occurred at Mooers, Clinton county, a short time since. A man named Aretus Stephens, a pedlar of Swanton, "t., who has a wife and five children, can away with the wife of John P. Ames, who took with her a lad about five years old, and $193 belonging to her husband. Mr. Ames hopes to get the boy back, but is quite willing that the woman should continue her travels with the pedlar.

Theatree and Exhibitions.

Castle Garden.—The opera of "Massanicilo" is to be repeated this evening. It was well received on Monday, by a large and fashionable assemblage, and very deservedly so, for it is produced with all that care which has always characterised Maretzek's management. The artists engaged in it are Mme. Bertucca Maretzek, Mile. Leeder, Sig. Beraldi, Sig. Graziani, and Sig. Coletti, together with a good chorns and corps de ballet. A crowded audience may be expected this evening.

Bowery Theatre.—A new version of that very popular drama, entitled "Jack Sheppard," is to be produced this evening. It is in four acts, and forty-two tableaux. The character of Sheppard is assigned to Mile. Marie Duret, who has already acted the part over 300 nights, and who, judging from the great approbation she has already received since her debut here, is likely to become a very great favorite with the dramatic public of this city. Mme. Olinza is to ascend on the tight-rope, blindfolded, in addition to the regular performance.

Niblo's Garden.—The fairy comic pastomime of Raoul" is to be represented for the last time but one this evening, with the usual caste. The ballet, eutitled "The Fisherman's Dream," is also to be played, the caste of which will introduce the great Russian danseuse, Mile. Yrca Mathias, in the character of Rudia. Mr. Moore, the stage manager of this theatre, is to take his benefit to-morrow night. Mme. Thillon, Barney Williams, Camilla Urso, and a host of others, have volunteered.
